South Korea Denounces Secret Talks on USS Pueblo

SEOUL (AP) — South Korea officially informed the United States on Tuesday of its opposition to U.S.-North Korean secret talks on the release of the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo and its crew.

South Korean sources reported — and Washington denied — that a crewman's body had been returned to American authorities.

A State Department spokesman in Washington said of the reported return of the body: "We deny it flatly — absolutely no truth in it." The Korean account told of the body being flown to the carrier Enterprise maneuvering in the Sea of Japan.

The developments came against a background of anti-American student demonstrations in Seoul, the first in five years, to denounce alleged "U.S. secret dealings with North Korea."

Premier Chung IL-Kwon was reported to have handed a "note of protest" to U.S. Ambassador William J. Porter expressing his discontent over the talks at the Panmunjom truce offices.

Information Minister Hong Jung-Chul said Porter was told that South Korea "may have to take unilateral self-defense measures" to protect its sovereignty unless the United States changes.

C of C Prexy To Appear On TV Tuesday

Appearing with him will be Barry R. Epstein, Executive Vice President of the Chamber. They will discuss the role of the Chamber of Commerce in the community and how interested citizens can be more active in their local chamber.

Highlighting the program will be a 15 minute tape-slide presentation, which is being used as the nucleus for ascertaining the Warren community's evaluation of the Chamber's new program of work, currently being developed. A sample questionnaire appears in today's Warren Times-Mirror and Observer on page 2. Comments are invited by the Chamber and can be mailed to Box 942, Warren, Pennsylvania 16365.

Administration Proposes Tax on Excess Traveling

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration proposed Monday a graduated travel tax on spending in excess of $7 a day outside the Western Hemisphere and a 5 per cent levy on overseas plane and ship tickets.

These were major recommendations in the administration's program to cut by $500 million a travel spending gap which jumped to more than $2 billion last year. This gap is the difference between spending by Americans in other countries and spending in the United States by foreign visitors.

The program, which also includes sharp reductions in the duty-free allowance on goods brought back to the United States, was outlined by Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler to the House Ways and Means Committee.

After submitting his proposals, Fowler underwent several hours of sometimes pointed questioning on various phases of the program, largely from Rep. John W. Byrnes, senior Republican

Hogsett May Receive Some Payment for Wells

Testimony Monday afternoon before Judge Alexander C. Flick Jr., indicated that O. W. Hogsett, independent oil producer, who holds a lease to drill wells on Rouse Home property, will, in due course, receive a compensation payment for some wells affected by construction of the Route 6 Youngsville bypass.

Hogsett first sought an injunction to halt construction of the bypass claiming he had not been notified of any declaration of taking by the State Highway Department as required by the Eminent Domain Code.

In November of 1967, Hogsett, through his legal counsel, sought to have an independent appraiser appointed by the court to determine just compensation for the wells involved since the state had still not,

can committeeman from Wisconsin.

But at the end of the session Byrnes indicated no all-out opposition. The exempt area, as defined by the bill, includes Canada, Mexico, Central America, South America, the Caribbean Islands, Bermuda and the Bahamas. It does not include such distant points as New Zealand and many South Pacific Islands although they are shown in the Western Hemisphere in most atlases.

The new program includes a cut in the duty-free allowance on souvenirs and other goods bought overseas from $100 to $10 and in the duty free gift provision from $10 to $1 for each article. This would apply to U.S. residents returning from all countries except Mexico, Canada and the Caribbean area.

Fowler said the travel tax and ticket tax would cut the dollar drain by up to $300 million while the cuts in the duty-free allowances and customs collections reforms would save another $100 million.

after almost a year, filed the declaration of taking. At that hearing, however, the Commonwealth testified the declaration had been filed on that date.

John P. Leemhuis, an Erie attorney representing Hogsett, said Monday that the Commonwealth had, on December 13, 1967, made a firm offer of compensation to his client in excess of $12,000.

Robert W. Wolfe, attorney for the Commonwealth, in a letter to the assistant attorney general, urged immediate payment of $12,712 to Hogsett, but as of Monday, no check had been received by the plaintiff.

Monday's petition before the court was to compel payment to Hogsett for the wells in question.

South Vietnamese Continue Battle For Walled Citadel

SAIGON (AP) — Intensified fighting across South Vietnam entered a second week Tuesday with South Vietnamese troops claiming the recapture of all but one wall of the Citadel in Hue, the ancient imperial capital.

Troops pushing foot by foot through Hue reported meeting heavy resistance from Communist soldiers holed up near the Citadel's southeast wall. The Viet Cong flag had been still flying from the Citadel's ramparts Monday.

U.S. Marines were reported Monday in control of 12 city blocks of Hue, 40 per cent of their goal. At that point, the Communists still held two-thirds of the city 400 miles northeast of Saigon.

The thick-walled, moated Citadel, once the seat of Kings and recently headquarters of the South Vietnamese army's 1st Infantry Division, has been reduced to a two-mile-square pile of ruins by allied ground attacks and shelling from the ground, sea and air.

Four hundred miles to the south, street fighting persisted in parts of Saigon. Heavy action was reported Tuesday morning between South Vietnamese paratroopers and about a battalion of the enemy less than a mile north of Tan Son Nhut airport.

No fresh fighting was reported at Khe Sanh, along the northern frontier, where U.S. Marines are braced for a possible invasion by North Vietnamese divisions massed in the area.

The U.S. Command announced that 21,330 enemy were killed up to midnight Monday, seven days after the Communists launched a countrywide offensive with attacks on 35 South Vietnamese cities.

A U.S. spokesman said the enemy dead represented more than one-third of the total force with which the Communists began their widespread attacks on 35 cities across South Vietnam. That force has been estimated by allied intelligence officers at about 60,000.

U.S. headquarters said 1,729 allied troops have been killed, 546 of them Americans and 1,169 South Vietnamese.

By U.S. count, the allies were killing 12 enemy for every allied soldier to die.

The casualty report covered the first seven days of the fighting, up to midnight Monday. The enemy toll was up more than 4,000 from the figure announced a day earlier.

The toll of civilians killed, wounded and made homeless by the fighting was mounting into the many thousands. In Saigon, 46,700 homeless civilians were being sheltered in schools, hospitals, churches and Buddhist pagodas.

Street fighting went through a seventh day in Hue, the old imperial capital, with U.S. Marines taking control of 12 city blocks—40 per cent of their objective.

Nixon Carries Campaign Into Wisc.

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, campaigning in Wisconsin, urged the Johnson administration Monday to rethink its policy toward domestic information on the progress of the war in Vietnam.

Nixon, a candidate in the Wisconsin presidential preference primary April 2, said that prior to the current Viet Cong assault on South Vietnamese cities, there had been glowing reports out of Washington indicating that the military aspects of the war were going well, or that "peace was around the corner."

Meanwhile, Nixon said, "apparently our hard intelligence indicated that not only was the enemy capable of doing what it did in this last offensive, it is capable of doing it again."

The Johnson administration, Nixon said, "would be much better advised to tell the American people the truth about the enemy's strength and the enemy's intentions, and at the same time make very clear that we're not going to cave in to this kind of assault."

Nixon flew into Green Bay Monday afternoon from New Hampshire for two days of campaigning aimed at Wisconsin's 30 GOP convention votes.

The former vice president noted descriptions of the Viet Cong offensive as a death rattle and "a last gasp" effort prior to negotiations. But, he said, reports in the last 48 hours lead to opposite conclusions.

On another aspect of the Far East crisis, the seizure of the intelligence ship Pueblo by the North Koreans, Nixon said, "if the Pueblo was in waters not international in character, then I believe the United States has no choice but to admit the fact."

LBJ Asks for $11.6 Billion In Spending on Education

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson proposed Monday increased federal assistance for college and university students and recommended a sharp cut in construction aid for institutions of higher learning.

The President's annual education message to Congress placed major emphasis on financial help for students in higher education and called for appropriations for this purpose of $574.8 million for fiscal year 1969. That's an increase of $53 million over the present year.

At the same time, $375 million would be cut from higher education construction funds.

Johnson proposed a modest increase in federal spending for education at all levels and his message basically reflects a reshuffling of priorities. For example federal outlays for the new fiscal year beginning next July 1 will total about 13 per cent of the total cost of education in this country. This is approximately the same as the present level federal spending for education.

Officials emphasized that while the new education message was submitted within the framework of a tight overall budget, all major programs are going ahead despite cutbacks in some areas.

Johnson's message calls for a total spending by the federal government of $11.6 billion dollars in fiscal 1969 for education. Current fiscal year educational spending totals $10.8 billion.

The new proposal for increased assistance to college and university students, mostly through guaranteed loans, will involve some two million students within the next five years, according to U.S. Office of Education authorities.

Johnson proposed full funding, totaling $30 million, of a stay-in-school program originally proposed by California's Republican Sen. George Murphy. The funds, Johnson said in his message, will help high school graduates.

Summary Of Activity In South Viet

SAIGON (AP) — Here is a summary of war activity in South Vietnam Monday from north to south:

KHE SANH — A North Vietnamese assault on Hill 861A apparently was just a probing attack, Marine commanders reported. The U.S. Command, still expecting a major assault on Khe Sanh, announced the dispatch of 3,500 Army paratroopers to the northern sector. Total U.S. troop strength in the area is about 55,000 men. The Communists are believed to have massed 35,000 to 40,000 men. The Khe Sanh combat base is defended by 5,000 Marines.

HUE — U.S. Marines now control 12 city blocks—40 per cent of their objectives—in the drive to rout Communists holding two-thirds of the old imperial capital. South Vietnamese forces continued the battle for the walled Citadel but the Viet Cong flag still flew from its ramparts. The South Vietnamese said they have killed 700 Communists in seven days of fighting. The Marines estimated they have killed 550. Marine casualties were listed as about 40 men killed and 260 wounded.

SAIGON — The Viet Cong showed they are still strong in and around the capital by attacking and burning a police precinct headquarters after overrunning a nearby substation. The attack came after Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky said he believed the Viet Cong still had three regiments at full strength in the capital area where U.S. intelligence reports indicate another major Red offensive is possible.

MY THO — Correspondents got their first accounts of the fighting last week in the Mekong Delta, the home of six million Vietnamese. Officials reported 11 of the delta's 16 provincial capitals came under attack but apparently none was seized. First estimates of delta civilian casualties: 1,250 killed and more than 3,000 wounded. Between 80,000 and 120,000 persons were reported homeless in the delta. About half of My Tho was destroyed by allied counterattacks after the Viet Cong holed up in homes and buildings. At last count, 63 civilians were killed and 680 wounded.

BEN TRE — U.S. officials reported this provincial capital, also known as Truc Giang, lost about 1,000 civilians killed and 1,500 wounded.

CAN THO — American officials said the Viet Cong used civilians as shields and refused to let them leave areas they knew would come under allied counterattack. The reported casualty toll here: 50 civilians killed and 300 wounded.

Among new educational initiatives proposed by the President was a Network of Knowledge Act, which would support the establishment of a pilot project enabling colleges and universities to pool resources, including facilities, through an educational television service.

An experimental program of this type already has been tried at Indiana University, where administrators view it as a promising method for cutting high costs and for spreading instructional talent.

Johnson recommended also that federal funding for support of Head Start and Follow Through programs for preschool disadvantaged children be stepped up from $340 million to $380 million.

A $5-million appropriation for special, bilingual educational programs for Mexican-American and Puerto Rican children also was proposed along with an $85-million program for training handicapped and retarded children.

U.S. Balks At Demand For Apology

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States appeared to be balking Monday at North Korean demands that an apology be made in advance as the price for the release of the 82 surviving crew members of the captured U.S. Navy intelligence ship Pueblo.

At the same time the State Department cautioned against any premature hopes that the U.S. North Korean negotiators in Pannunjom are on the verge of a settlement that would lead to the speedy release of some or all of the American crew.

That talks are continuing was the only sign that could be considered progress, a spokesman said.

Earlier, Asst. Secretary of State William P. Bundy deflated reports from Seoul that some agreement had been reached in principle for the release of the Pueblo crew.

Bundy, in charge of East Asian affairs, said he had no confirmation of the reports of a settlement, did not know the basis for them, and could not report any progress at this time.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, in an interview with Collegiate Press Service, also poured cold water on any expectation that the United States would apologize.

"The notion that American flag ships can be seized on the high seas by any country around the world is something that we just cannot accept," Rusk declared. "This is something we have not accepted throughout our history and we don't intend to start now."

Press officer Robert J. McCloskey told newsmen it is inconceivable that the Pueblo when first approached "was well beyond North Korea's 12-mile limit and North Korea knew this."

He also insisted that remarks by Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara in a nationwide television appearance Sunday should not have been interpreted as laying the groundwork for an apology in advance.

"What they said was that if additional facts became known after the release of the ship and the crew, those facts would be made public," McCloskey said.

Officers Are Enforcing Dog Laws

State dog law officers have conducted a survey of areas in Warren County where complaints have been received regarding unlicensed dogs and dogs running at large.

Since the first of the year prosecutions have been made against dog owners whose animals have attacked or been destructive against personal property.

Areas receiving closest scrutiny were those of North Warren, Sugar Grove, Columbus, Pittsfield, Youngsville, Russell-Akeley, Sheffield, Clarendon Heights, Hemlock, Lottsville-Wrightsville, Bear Lake, Garland and Grand Valley.

Preliminary surveys have also been made in townships of Elk, Conewango, Pleasant, Mead, Glade, Cherry Grove, Southwest and Brokenstraw. Spot checks will be made throughout Warren County with emphasis on the areas previously mentioned.

Owners of dogs over six months of age that are unlicensed or at large unaccompanied will be prosecuted. The 1968 dog licenses may be obtained at the county treasurer's office.

There will be no "drives" announced but a continuous day by day enforcement of the dog law in the county. The minimum penalty for a violation is a $19 fine.

According to testimony by Edward L. Krieger, district right-of-way administrator for the Franklin office, Dept. of Highways, stated that necessary

Warren Rotary Club observed Boy Scout Week with a program presented by Eagle Scouts John Lasher and George King, who gave a slide talk on their trip to the World Scout Jamboree in Colorado in the summer of 1967.

Lasher's slides covered the trip to the World Jamboree. King showed pictures taken at the Jamboree.

The expedition from Western Pennsylvania included four Scouts from Chief Cornplanter Council. Dr. Klair E. McDonald was Scoutmaster for the troop. The other two Scouts from Warren were Grover Cleveland and William Dickson.

Scouts' tour included air and bus travel. They visited Yellowstone National Park, then flew to Seattle, toured the area around Mt. Ranier, then flew to the Jamboree.

The activities at the Jamboree, participated in by Scouts from scores of countries around the globe, were pictured vividly by the color slides taken by the Scouts. Among interesting personalities caught on the slides were moving picture actor Jimmy Stewart, Vice President and Mrs. Hubert Humphrey, and Lady Baden Powell, wife of the founder of the Boy Scout Movement, and founder of the counterpart, papers were prepared by his office and forwarded to Harrisburg where on Jan. 29, steps were being taken to make payment to Hogsett of the $12,712 estimated just compensation.

Krieger stated the matter was following normal procedures, i.e. clearance by the legal department, right-of-way division, comptroller's office and to the state treasurer. He said he attempted to bring the check with him Monday but stated it would probably be another week before the payment would reach the oil producer.

Krieger testified the Commonwealth's oversight in not taking the OGM rights into consideration when surface rights were taken over on the property involved with the bypass, had created a delay in proceedings. Judge Flick yesterday ruled the Commonwealth should pay the amount of just estimated compensation to Hogsett forthwith or "in due course."

In court yesterday it was stated that Hogsett's legal advisors have termed the estimated compensation of $12,712 "ridiculous." The plaintiff has legal recourse for additional settlement under the Eminent Domain Code, when a Board

Con Con Turns Down Proposals For Reductions in Assembly

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Constitutional Convention turned down Monday two proposals for drastic reductions in the size of the Pennsylvania House of Representatives.

The proposals were in the form of amendments to the recommendation of the convention's Legislative Apportionment Committee to maintain House membership at the present 203.

Defeat of the amendments, however, did not assure ultimate approval of the committee's draft, as other proposed changes were sure to be offered before a final vote is taken.

Fredonia Deaths Ruled Murder And Suicide

FREDONIA, N.Y. — The mysterious deaths of a Fredonia couple at the White Inn have been ruled a murder and a suicide. Police authorities said Monday afternoon that laboratory tests performed at the state police laboratory in Albany showed that 62-year-old John P. Maloney died from an overdose of barbiturates.

Fredonia state police said Maloney apparently beat his wife, Helen to death then took an overdose of the drugs. Mrs. Maloney died of a skull fracture, with a book-end found nearby, believed to be the murder weapon. An autopsy performed Sunday afternoon failed to pinpoint the cause of Maloney's death, but it did rule out death due to a heart attack. No evidence of any forced entry was found, and police said no money or jewelry was taken. The Maloneys formerly owned the famed White Inn where they died.

ed before a final vote is taken.

Neither amendment came anywhere near winning a majority vote, but the proposal that commanded the greater support was one to reduce the size of the House to a maximum of 151 and a minimum of 101 members. It went down, 40-103.

Earlier, the delegates voted 14-135 on a proposal for 101 members, no more, no less. Debate on the amendments lasted some four hours.

The present State Constitution whose section on legislative apportionment has been declared unconstitutional, provides for a minimum of 200-member House.

The Legislative Apportionment Committee recommended that the section be changed to provide specifically for 203 districts, each of which would be "compact and contiguous" and "as nearly equal in population as practicable."

Supporters of the amendments argued that Pennsylvania should take the opportunity at this Constitutional Convention — the state's first in 94 years — to go with the national trend of reducing the size of the large legislative bodies.

They contended a smaller House would be able to operate more efficiently and that money saved in salaries could be used to give legislators higher pay and more staff assistance.

"The number of members in the House makes it a large and cumbersome body with inherent weaknesses," said Delegate Matthew M. Gouger, D-Franklin, who introduced the more popular amendment. "I suggest we reduce the House to more manageable proportions."

Opponents warned that a significant cut in the number of House members might make the body too manageable by political bosses.

Delegate Robert P. Casey, D-Lackawanna, vice-president of the convention, backed the Gouger amendment and said he expected at least three more to be offered, Casey said, however, he did not know if he would support any of them.

Investigate Glue Sniffing In Jamestown
JAMESTOWN, N.Y. — Jamestown police are conducting an investigation into "Glue Sniffing" at Jefferson Junior High School, on the city's south side. The investigation, headed by Lt. Richard Ream, was announced Monday following the discovery last Friday night of a 15-year-old boy who was overcome by the fumes from an alleged glue sniffing episode.

The unidentified youth was found unconscious on the school's lawn about 9 p.m. Friday chaperones of a teen-age dance. The junior high student was treated at WCA Hospital and released in the custody of his parents. Lt. Ream said the boy had two tubes of plastic cement on his person when he was found.

In announcing the investigation Monday, Lt. Ream said he believes at least a score of students at Jefferson and possibly from other schools have indulged in the sniffing of glue.

"The police department will conduct an investigation," he said, "as well as an educational program to alert Jamestown teenagers to the very real dangers involved in glue sniffing." Glue sniffing is forbidden by law in New York State.

Police Charge Newsstand Operators

JAMESTOWN, N.Y. — Jamestown police and state police raided two area newsstands Monday afternoon and charged the two newsstand operators with possession of obscene material.

A detail of state police led by Lt. R.A. Butterfield assisted by Falconer Village police, arrested 57-year-old Lester A. Snell, of 104 Falconer st., Falconer, proprietor of the Falconer News Stand. Snell was released on $100 bond posted at the village police department and will appear Tuesday night before peace justice, Joseph Seiger.

Jamestown police led by Detective Richard Ream, arrested Anthony T. Miloto, 47, of 25 Charles st., Jamestown, owner of U.S. News at 211 W. Third st. Miloto was also released on $100 bail and will appear in city court Tuesday morning to answer the charges. In both cases paper back books, magazines and photos were confiscated. Both raids took place about 3:30 p.m. Police said the twin arrests climaxed a month-long investigation, which was begun by District Attorney, Robert J. Sullivan, who had received complaints from local residents.

Pa. Judicial System Termed A Conglomerate Patchwork

HARRISBURG (AP) — Pennsylvania really has no judicial system, just a conglomerate patchwork that has evolved since the Revolutionary War, a noted college law school dean said Monday.

The author of the remark was Dean Burton R. Laub of the Dickinson Law School, who directed the Constitutional Convention's research on the existing judicial article.

Laub spoke before a session of the annual Editor's Seminar of the Pennsylvania Society of Newspaper Editors, co-sponsored by the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers' Association.

Former Gov. William W. Scranton and Gustave C. Amsterdam, co-chairmen of the convention's key Judiciary Committee, were scheduled speakers at Monday's session. They were unable to appear because their committee was making ready its final report for submission at Monday's general convention session.

Many of the newspaper delegates to the seminar were present for Monday's convention sessions by special invitation. Speaking of tenure, Laub said it was the thinking of the judicial section's drafters that the judicial system as it exists today is not subject to more patching.

"What is needed is to jack up the emblem on the hood and drive a completely new vehicle under it," Laub asserted.

On the subject of tenure for most state judges, Laub suggested that 10 years appeared to be fair. State Supreme Court judges are elected for 21 years, and federal jurists are appointed for life.

Laub said the federal system seemed to breed arrogance on the part of judges toward both lawyers and litigants.

In answer to a question, Laub defended the large numbers of lawyers both in the convention as delegates and as members of its Judiciary Committee.

"It is not as evil as it might appear to have lawyers trying to bring about these reforms," Laub, himself a former judge, told the editors.

Laub said the popular acceptance that something was wrong with lawyers taking a positive part in such efforts grew out of what he called the "vilification against the bar" fostered by the justice of the peace lobby as far back as 1961.

The executive director of the Pennsylvania Bar Association, Fred Bolton, said the convention delegates had gone about their work with greater dedication than anything he had yet seen in 15 or 20 years of observing the legislative process.

He said the reason the convention conducted its Friday business without a roll call, when it was evident the convention lacked a quorum, was because the delegates had stayed up working until 2:30 a. m. that day.

State Police Release Report For January

State Police Sgt. John Kruprey of the Warren substation has released information on January activities.

There were 86 complaints received and responded to last month, 23 criminal and 58 in the traffic detail. Only 19 of the criminal complaints were terminated with 11 cleared by criminal arrest. Nine were requests for assistance. Four vehicles, valued at a total of $1,625 were recovered with $96.05 worth of other property.

State police investigated 38 accidents involving 34 injuries, no fatalities and $29,295 in property damage. Police conducted six O.R. investigations pertaining to license and registration suspensions and performed three traffic warrant services. There were eight investigations into traffic violations and traffic control.

Accidents occurred as follows by day of week: Monday, 6; Tuesday, 4; Wednesday, 9; Thursday, 2; Friday, 6; Saturday, 6 and Sunday, 5. Traffic arrests made totaled 104 and 14,200 miles were patrolled.

In Warren borough there were 30 traffic accidents recorded in January with 13 injured, no fatalities and property damage totaling $12,348.

Hit and run incidents last month were listed at 12. Local drivers involved totaled 28; out-of-town, 25; male, 43 and female, 10. In January of 1967, borough police investigated 33 accidents in which eight persons were injured and property damage set at $14,038.

Forester Back from PSU

Bob Popielski, Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters service forester with District 14, headquarters in Warren, has returned from Penn State University where he attended a week-long instructor training course.

The course was given in cooperation with the U.S. Forest Service. Its purpose, according to District Forester Robert Ache, is to develop better methods of instructing, applied to groups as well as individuals.

Malcolm Waskiewicz, service forester for Venango County, stationed at Franklin, also attended.

More Bonds Cashed In Than Bought

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans cashed in more savings bonds than they bought during January, for the second straight month, the Treasury Department reported Monday.

But because of interest which accrued to outstanding bonds the total value of bond holdings increased again to a new record.

Sales of Series E and H bonds totaled $459 million while redemptions at cost price reached $487 million.

Holdings of E and H bonds totaled a record $51.47 billion at the end of January, up $1.2 billion from a year earlier, the department said.

Brandt's Alleged Remarks Create A Furor in Paris

PARIS (AP) — Criticism of President Charles de Gaulle attributed to West German Foreign Minister Willy Brandt disturbed relations Monday between the two strongest countries in the European Common Market.

Brandt denied he had told a meeting of his Social Democratic party at Ravensburg Saturday about the "un-European ideas of a chief of state obsessed with power," as reported by the German news agency Deutsche Presse Agentur.

His Social Democratic party released the transcript of what it said was a tape recording in which Brandt said friendship between France and West Germany is so strong it cannot be disturbed by "unreasonable governments." The agency then retracted its story and apologized.

5 Ohio Youths Arrested In Sheffield

Five Ohio youths were arrested Saturday at a hunting camp in Sheffield township, Warren County, and charged with illegal possession of alcoholic beverages.

Charges were filed before Peace Justice Vincent Sprague against James Herbert Fraley, 18, of 4650 Broadway, Lorain, Ohio and four companions ranging in age from 16 to 17. All were released after payment of $27.60 in fines and costs each for the illegal possession, police said.

Fraley was also cited for violation of the Uniform Firearms Act and released on $250 cash or $500 property bond pending appearance in court, according to police.

State Police Trooper Harry Jabo with an assist from the sheriff's office and Sheffield police headed the investigation.

Court Approves Liquidation Of Casualty Co.

HARRISBURG (AP) — Commonwealth Court approved Monday the liquidation of the Home Mutual Casualty Co., a Pittsburgh firm with 2,500 automobile insurance customers primarily in Western Pennsylvania.

The court order signed by Judge Lee F. Swope permits the department to begin liquidation of the insolvent firm.

The order dissolves the company, directs its officers to refrain from transacting further business and requires them to turn over all records to a department-appointed liquidator.

The department filed the liquidation petition last Jan. 19 after an audit had determined the company to be insolvent.

pean affairs since the French refusal in December to permit even the start of negotiations between Britain and the Common Market.

The French position is that Britain may not join until its economy is in better shape and the pound ceases to be a currency in which smaller countries hold important reserves.

This clashes with the ideas of the other five members of the Common Market: West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg. All say they want negotiations to start and Britain to become a member as soon as possible. They believe this would strengthen all Western Europe in its effort to become an equal partner of the United States.

There Is a Difference

A recent editorial in the Erie Times-News asked the question "What about a national park in the Allegheny National Forest?" in a closing paragraph of a discussion on the overcrowding of national parks in all parts of the nation. In general, the editorial suggested that the solution to overcrowding was to have more parks so that the masses could be more widely dispersed.

There was a time when this suggestion would have been practical, so far as the Warren area is concerned. If the immediate impact area of the Kinzua Dam would have been set up as a national park and developed along "park" lines the end result would have been highly profitable to our community. But we have little to gain now, and especially if the suggestion is taken to imply that the whole Allegheny National Forest should be a national park.

Basically, a national park is considered as a great outdoor museum, while a national forest is a managed area of land dedicated to the multiple use principle with the renewable and useable resources having practical values. So there is a big difference in the way our local federal lands would be handled if managed by either agency.

In the vicinity of the Kinzua Dam, where the number of acres involved would be comparatively small and some resources could be sacrificed to meet public demand, the high prestige of the Park Service could be an advantage.

But if the half-million acres of the to the Park Service the results of this agency's "preserving" attitude could be disastrous. Neither our national forests nor the people who use them could benefit.

Either from an economic or recreational viewpoint the multiple use principle of managing public lands will be best for the Warren area in the long run. It is through this type of land management we are most likely to reach the goals we strive for with the least inconvenience to our local residents.

Doctors Aren't Warned

WASHINGTON — Failure of the drug industry to warn doctors regarding the use of untried and dangerous drugs will be highlighted testimony before the Senate Subcommittee on Drugs today (Feb. 6).

Preliminary investigation shows that doctors rely almost entirely on the drug industry to inform them as to when a drug is dangerous. Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., chairman of the subcommittee, contends that some drug companies have been negligent, have featured drug advertising more than drug warnings.

As an illustration, Sen. Nelson points to Parke, Davis and Company, sole manufacturers of chloromycetin, and the manner in which doctors have continued to prescribe it for minor ailments when it should be used only for such rare diseases as typhoid, Rocky Mountain spotted fever and, in some cases, urinary tract infection.

Yet Parke Davis has continued to advertise it so widely in medical journals that in 1961 chloromycetin constituted 31 per cent of all Parke Davis sales, totaling $59 million.

Sen. Nelson also claims that Parke Davis has not carried a warning in British medical journals and in other advertising outside the United States that chloromycetin can be dangerous.

Yet Harry J. Loynd, president of Parke Davis, has admitted to Sen. Nelson that prior to 1960 its use had resulted in 25 damage suits, including a record judgment of $334,000 awarded to Mrs. Carney Love of Palo Alto, Calif. Mrs. Love's doctor had prescribed chloromycetin for a sore gum after a tooth extraction, and it gave her aplastic anemia.

In another tragic case, the 19-year-old daughter of Edgar F. Elfrstrom, publisher of the Fullerton, Calif., News-Tribune, died after taking chloromycetin prescribed by her doctor for a minor urinary infection.

Senate testimony has shown that though chloromycetin should be prescribed in only a few hundred cases a year, actually it was

A Sensible Tax on Travel

WASHINGTON — Congress is considering a new travel tax to cut the dollar flow to Europe and the question, as always when government thinks of something new to tax, is who shall be excused from paying it?

In the case of the travel tax there should be little difficulty in establishing a just table of exemptions. In fact, with a completely new tax to impose, Congress at last has the chance to write a tax law that is completely fair.

First, blanket exemption should be given to anyone over the age of 40 who is going to Europe for the first time. Anyone who has reached 40 without having seen Europe deserves the government's compassion. The government can easily afford it. By the time they reach 40, most people have been paying income tax for 20 years and will, therefore, not be able to afford a trip to Europe anyhow.

The few who can will be so low on energy, spirit, stamina and joie de vivre—such is the effect of 20 years of income-tax paying—that their afternoon cathedral tours will leave them too spent to use their nights pouring dollars into the fleshpots of Europe.

Students and teachers should also be exempted. Neither group has enough money to make a dent in the balance of payments. What's more, American tourist operators would prefer having them pinching pennies and undertripping in Europe rather than cluttering up valuable hotel space and demoralizing the help here in the United States.

The rate on the travel tax should be progressive, as it is on the income tax. The more often a person goes to Europe the more tax he should pay. It is these people who are forever hopping over to Paris or Innsbruck for a weekend who are bleeding Fort Knox.

People who hop the Atlantic for weekends tend to be heavy spenders, and the way to deal with them is to hit them harder every time they buckle their seat belts to watch a movie. Ten per cent of net income for the first trip of the fiscal year would be a fair levy. Twenty per cent for the second trip, 30 per cent for the third, and on up to 200 percent for the 20th trip would be a progression that should make these spendthrifts think twice before deciding against Atlantic City.

There are some people, of course, for whom a trip to Europe is utterly pointless. Honey-mooners, for example. To keep them in the Western Hemisphere, the tax should be fixed at 50 per cent of the gross cost of the wedding, including the bride's trousseau.

There are other people who should be kept at home in the national interest. A congressman, to cite a case, should be taxed at the flat rate of $2,000 per day for every day spent outside the U.S. Men planning to run for president might be clipped at a $20,000 rate, and presidents themselves at a flat $100,000, not a cent of it payable out of the White House budget.

For everyone, there should also be some surtax based on ability to pay. It is not too hard to set up criteria that will measure this. People arriving at the airport with sunglasses could be subject to a 10 per cent surtax on their basic tax. Those carrying skis should be hit with a 20 per cent surcharge. Skis and sunglasses in combination should be clipped with a 50 per cent surtax.

Anybody in sunglasses, with rare exceptions, is a person prepared to blow a fortune to cut a figure. Anyone going to Europe to ski obviously has money to burn. Both skis and sunglasses indicate a party capable of opening a Swiss bank account siphoning dollars eastward in boxcar volume.

The big problem is how to tax people traveling on business. We cannot discourage our tycoons from missions vital to the preservation of the free enterprise system, of course. The difficulty is that a tycoon in Europe on an expense account can cause a bigger dollar outflow than all the college professors in Massachusetts.

The money-saving solution here is quite simple. First, forbid corporations to deduct European travel as a business expense. Then, make it financially attractive for European businessmen to travel to America by paying their expenses out of the Treasury.

All these proposals would give us a tax law for the first time in decades that embodies principles of justice. Unfortunately, there is no probability that any of them will be enacted. In fact, there is no doubt about who will be excused from paying the travel tax. People who own oil and gas wells, who live on the income from municipal bonds, who buy and sell skyscrapers over fully deductible lunches.

There's no tax shelter for the wealthy.

Custer's Last Press Conference

LITTLE BIGHORN, Dakota, June 27, 1876—Gen. George Armstrong Custer said today in an exclusive interview with this correspondent that the Battle of Little Bighorn had just turned the corner and he could now see the light at the end of the tunnel.

"We have the Sioux on the run," Gen. Custer told me. "Of course, we still have some clean-up to do, but the Redskins are hurting badly and it will only be a matter of time before they give in."

"That's good news, General. Of course, there are people who are skeptical about the military briefings on this war and they question if we're getting the entire truth as to what is really happening here."

"I just would like to refer you to these latest body counts. The Sioux lost 5,000 men to our 100. They can't hope to keep up this attrition much longer. We know for a fact Sioux morale is low, and they are ready to throw in the towel."

"Well, if they're hurting so badly, Gen. Custer, how do you explain this massive attack?"

"It's a desperation move on the part of Sitting Bull and his last death rattle. I have here captured documents which show that this is Phase II of Sitting Bull's plan to wrest the Black Hills from the Americans. All he's going for is a psychological victory, but the truth is that we expected this all the time and we're not surprised by it."

"What about the fact that 19 Indians managed to penetrate your headquarters? Doesn't that look bad?"

"We knew all along they planned to penetrate my headquarters at the Indian Lunar New Year. The fact that they repulsed them after they held on for only six hours is another example of how badly the Sioux are fighting. Besides, they never did get into the sleeping quarters of my tent, so I don't really think they should be credited with penetrating my headquarters."

"You seem to be surrounded at the moment, General."

"Obviously the enemy plans have gone awry," Gen. Custer said. "The Sioux are hoping to win a big victory so they'll be able to have something to talk about at the conference table. Look at this latest body count. We've just killed 30,000 more Indians and lost 50 of our men."

"Then according to my figuring, General, you have only 50 men left."

"Exactly. They can't keep up this pressure much longer. The truth of the matter is that their hit-and-run guerrilla tactics haven't worked, so they're now resorting to mass attacks against our positions. Thanks to our interdiction of their supply lines, they are not only short of bows and arrows, but gunpowder as well."

An aide came in and handed Gen. Custer a sheet of paper. "I knew it," the general said. "The latest body count shows they've lost 2,000 more Indians in the last hour. They should be suing for peace at any time."

"How many did we lose, General?"

"Our losses were light. We only lost 45 men."

"But, General, that means you have only five men left, including yourself."

"Look, we have to lose some men, but we're taking all precautions to keep our losses to a minimum. Besides, we can always count on the friendly Indians in these hills to turn against the Sioux for starting hostilities during the Indian Lunar New Year."

The aide staggered back in, an arrow in his chest. He handed Gen. Custer the slip of paper and then dropped at his feet.

"Well, they just lost 500 more. And we only lost four. It looks as if they've had it."

"But, General, that means you're the only one left."

"Boy," said the general, "would I hate to be in Sioux shoes right now."

How's the Market?

Q. How's the market?
A. That depends on which index you follow.

If you measure the market by the familiar Dow-Jones average of 30 industrial stocks the market hit its peak way back on Feb. 9, 1966, at 995.15—almost precisely two years ago.

Since then, the market has never come close to recovering the ground it lost in 1966 and the Dow-Jones average is now more than 135 points below its top.

But if you measure the market by the still comparatively unfamiliar New York Stock Exchange index of all stocks listed on the Big Board, the market reached an all time high of 54.17 on Jan. 12, 1968—and since then it has slipped moderately from its peak.

Now this divergence in the two indexes has been going on for far too long a period to be explained away with a sharp comment that there has been rampant speculation in the high flyers and low flyers listed on the NYSE, but nothing like this gambling in the seasoned, established stocks included in the Dow-Jones 30 blue chips.

Speculation has unquestionably been a factor in the upsurge in the NYSE, but speculation cannot be the sole reason why this comprehensive average bounced back from the 1966 slide to reach new all-time highs throughout 1967 and again in early 1968. Nor can the deep blue of the Dow-Jones 30 blue chips be the sole reason why this index has lagged consistently behind the NYSE index in recent years. (If the Dow-Jones had been performing the way the NYSE has been, it would long ago have smashed the 1,000 mark.)

What could be the other explanation? I submit that in addition to speculation in the "flyers" the following have been factors, and I submit that each tells a major story about the society in which we live today.

(1) The NYSE index has been moving to new highs just because it includes about 1,270 stocks—and therefore, it covers the industries and services which are leading the U.S. economy.

Pulling up the Big Board's index to new highs in January, for instance, were stocks in companies representing these fields: office equipment, computer, photo copying, color TV, leisure time, aerospace. None of these is represented in the Dow-Jones.

(2) The Dow-Jones average includes only 30 industrial stocks. While these companies are at the foundation of our nation—accounting for more than one-quarter of the output of non-financial corporations—they are a mighty small sample of our economy in 1968. A lot of the action is happening elsewhere.

(3) The Dow Jones is an index of industrial stocks. But our economy is now dominated by the services—a profound fact of life today. To measure the stock market by what is occurring only in industry and only in 30 companies in industry is an entirely too narrow concept.

(4) The stocks in the Dow-Jones are cyclical in nature—meaning they reflect the ups and downs of our business cycle.

The PSEA Threat

HARRISBURG — Pennsylvania's lawmakers return to Capitol Hill tomorrow to receive Governor Shafer's $2 billion budget for the coming fiscal year—but they do so under threat of an as yet undetermined course of action by Pennsylvania's school teachers.

While tomorrow's session will be primed by a long fiscal lines, the cause celebre of possible upcoming state-wide school teacher action is also along fiscal lines—in this case increased teacher pay.

Miffed and nettled at the Legislature's failure to act last year on the question of upping minimum teacher salaries from $4,500 to $6,000, the Pennsylvania State Education Association (PSEA) served notice last December at its annual convention here that if nothing was forthcoming from the legislative sanctum, a militant course of action would be taken this year.

The House of Delegates of the 80,000 teacher-member PSEA meets this weekend to determine what that course of action will be—if any.

The possibility of a statewide teacher "strike" for a day has been one of the prime proposals under consideration, along with alternatives such as mass resignations, censure of both political parties for failure to act, impose a sanction on the state, a campaign to contact all legislators, a protest march on Capitol Hill when the Legislature returns to full session scheduled March 4, or an "educational" program designed to inform voters of the state which legislators care for and against "progressive education" (in this case meaning teacher pay). Meanwhile PSEA teacher units in school districts throughout the state have been polling their members as to their choice of action PSEA should take.

It is the results of these local surveys which the PSEA House of Delegates will consider this Saturday in determining what course of action is to be taken. Should the decision be for a "strike" (teachers dislike such designation, preferring to call it a "professional holiday") or a mass march up the ramps of Capitol Hill, best thinking at this point is that it would take place March 4, the day the Legislature returns from its current Constitutional Convention recess—or the House of Delegates may set another date.

In any event, should such a holiday, or strike, be decreed, it could produce some interesting developments.

For example, is a local school board to tolerate such absence without possible teacher penalty—simply ignore the whole thing and look the other way?

As one school board member expressed it: If the teachers can get away with such a course of action, what is to prevent pupils from taking similar action—without fear of penalty? After all, both are ruled by school board.

Another interesting facet: It is understood a number of local PSEA groups have asked their local school boards to go along with the "holiday" proposal by closing school on that particular day and declaring it a "professional holiday"—the day lost to be made up later.

If a school board does this, wouldn't it be considered, in effect, to be joining in slapping Pennsylvania's legislative face with "condoning" the strike (or holiday)?

The decision of PSEA's House of Delegates this weekend will be of more than passing interest. If a militant course of action is decided upon, such as a strike, a holiday or mass resignations, it will be the first time for the usually docile and genteel teachers' organization.

Many fear much of the "professional" stature will be lost; in its stead will come the conventional union symbol.

A Savings Bond registered in co-owner form becomes the sole and absolute property of the surviving co-owner should the other owner die.

Is There A Last Straw?

It is increasingly difficult to work up public indignation over outrage, as long as it is committed by a labor union. In the past few years in New York City labor unions have closed down newspapers and killed off three of them. Labor unions have shut down the ships at sea, closing off passenger and freight traffic. Labor unions have grounded the airlines, or most of them, leaving passengers the option of flying either to Toronto or to Detroit, but nowhere else. The labor unions have shut down the schools, all the schools, in violation of the laws which it is the supposed purpose of the schools to preach obedience to. The labor unions have shut down public transportation, causing something very like a closing of the entire city. The labor unions struck the taxis, and violence was inflicted on the independent operators who declined to join in the strike. New York's severest retaliation against these strikes, some of them illegal, others merely convulsive, economically, socially, and culturally, was 15 days in jail during the Christmas holidays for Mr. Albert Shanker, the leader of the teachers' union, during which he is said to have run out of tea and crumpets on the third day, resulting in a loss of weight of three and one-half ounces.

I remember three years ago arriving at a television station and meeting at the elevator Professor John Kenneth Galbraith, all six feet five of the eminent intelligence, who always gives the impression that he is on very temporary leave of absence from Olympus, where he holds classes on the maintenance of divine standards. We rode up the elevator and met Billy Rose, the impresario, rich, famous, a little cranky, and (if my memory serves) Dick Gregory, the amiable but extremely touchy Negro comedian. It was opening night for a new talk show hosted by David Susskind, and the gimmick was a Sony-sized television, set on a swivel, which would face whichever member of the panel the questioner, who spoke a half mile away from Grand Central Station, was addressing his question to.

Now gentlemen, Mr. Susskind explained, there has been a jurisdictional question between the unions here on the question which union has the responsibility for turning the knob at the control booth which swivels the television set towards the guest being questioned. So, when a question is asked, the person the question is directed to should get up from his chair and run quickly towards the chair opposite the television, exchanging places with whoever was sitting there.

To this day, I cannot believe it—we all received our instructions so dutifully as if we had met at the rim of Mt. Sinai to receive there from our transfigured Maker eternal commandments concerning our future behavior. I dimly remember an evening spent jumping up on my chair and passing Mr. Galbraith running at sprint-speed from his chair to occupy mine, diving into the empty chair, panting, and attempting a suave answer to the lady or the gentleman from Grand Central Station who little knew what heroic physical exertions were involved in situating the guest in front of the little screen.

I do solemnly believe that if the Queen of England had asked Mr. Galbraith or Mr. Rose or Mr. Gregory or myself, to make such asses of ourselves in order to indulge her imperial pleasure, we'd every one of us have said: Madam, go jump in the royal lake.

The other day a colleague of mine, a lady of bright disposition and middle years, went to her garage to fetch her car, only to find the garage doors closed and her car interred inside. A strike. She has asked the doorman of the apartment building to raise the garage door, but he has informed her that the striking garage attendants removed the spark plugs from the machine that hoists the doors, so that there is no feasible way to lift them. I spoke of "her garage" intending to be precise. She owns her apartment and, accordingly, a part of the garage which is a part of the building. So that her car is being detained in her garage against her will, and if you think that big brave courageous law-abiding people-loving John Lindsay is going to utter one word of reproach to the labor unions, let alone dispatch a unit of policemen to wrench open the garage door and restore a citizen's rights, you are a romantic, and a patriot, and out, out of this crazy world.

Farewell Party Honors Visiting Fulbright Scholar From India

The Public School teachers from Holy Redeemer parish, the Priests and the Sisters of Warren were entertained at a farewell party last Saturday night at the Three Flags Inn in honor of Father Alan Basil deLastic who has been visiting the schools of Warren for the past four weeks. Host for the affair was the Rev. Father Joseph Seyboldt, pastor of Holy Redeemer.

Father deLastic is one of 70 Educators from India who are visiting various schools in the United States. All are here on Fulbright Scholarships and will soon return to Washington, D. C., to give an accounting of their visit and experiences before returning to India.

In his remarks at the party, Father deLastic paid high praise to the educational quality and facilities of the Warren schools; he was very much impressed with the devotedness and superb qualities of the teachers; his wish was that the children of India could have even one-half the opportunities of the children here; the fine school buildings with their equipment, books, laboratories, music departments, and the various athletic facilities. He said he found so much warmth and friendliness from the clergy of all faiths, as well as the lay people. He expressed regret that he is so soon to bid adieu.

Smith of St. Joseph's Parish and Father Joseph Seyboldt of Holy Redeemer; Sister Mary Rose of the Sisters of the Divine Spirit gave an interesting and informative talk on the work of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine; Sister Romayne, of the Benedictine Order, who teaches

"CHOOSING HOME-FURNISHINGS"

SLEEP occupies, for most of us, a third of our lives... which means that of all the furnishings in our homes, the one we use most is the mattress on our bed, along with its companion box spring.

That makes the selection of a good mattress and box spring one of your most important purchases for the home, not just because of hours of daily use, but because it contributes so much toward your feeling of health and vitality coming from restful sleep.

A sleep set is just about the only purchase you make in home furnishings where you need to be concerned only with service. Appearance has little if anything to do with it. You want a quality ticking because it will last longer... but the pretty pattern isn't any reason for buying.

Mattress comfort, and the choice of a good innerspring or foam rubber mattress, is largely an individual matter. Many experts recommend mattresses more toward the firm side than the overly soft, but a light person might prefer the softer mattress.

Your best bet is to stop in at our bedding department. You'll find a full selection of sizes and types in quality name brand sleep sets. Test them for comfort, and remember: a good mattress and box spring are one of the best investments you can make.

If the Shoe Fits

James R. Valone

Footsaving Education

'Pump Bumps' are those swollen knobby bumps at the back of women's heels. They tend to build up near the point at which the top line of the shoe fits against her heel. Pump bumps range from soft puffs of flesh to very hard callouses.

For some women, the bump remains approximately the same size and shape. For other women, the bump swells and becomes painful each time she breaks in another new pair of pumps.

Pumps fitted too short cause pump bumps because the top line is too tight. Heavy set women often develop the bumps when they insist on compressing their feet into shoes with unsuitable lasts; the flesh tends to spill over the shoe top line, settle above the heel and form a decided bump.

Proper fit is vital to healthy feet. Women in recent years are becoming more knowledgeable and insist on proper fit. The notion that small feet and tight shoes are a symbol of gentility has been discarded.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: Can you tell me, please, why two attractive, intelligent people would go together for years and years and never marry? I know of three such couples. One couple went to Europe together last summer and made no attempt to keep it quiet. They even sent postcards!

Why don't these people make it legal? They could file joint income tax reports, live in one lavish apartment instead of paying rent for two modest places. On the domestic side, they could raise a family and have a normal family life.

I've spent a lot of time thinking about this and I can't come up with any answers. Can you? — PRAGMATIC OBSERVER

Dear Prag: Unless you are one of the principals in such an arrangement, don't spend any more time thinking about it because it's nobody's business but theirs.

What you consider a mystery is in my opinion obvious. People who go together for years and years and do not marry are unwilling to surrender what they consider their wholeness. As time goes on they feel less inclined to make the personal sacrifices which marriage demands. So they go on enjoying the benefits of marriage without having to put up with the disadvantages—or so it seems to THEM.

Dear Ann Landers: Don't you think you are overdoing the "see a psychiatrist" bit? I refer to the letter from the mother whose 6-year-old son who broke his toys, tore up magazines and books, knocked holes in the wall and got into fights with other children. You advised the mother to take him to a specialist. I raised three boys and I'd say the behavior described by the mother sounds like par for the course.

Why does every hostile act have to be "abnormal behavior"? Maybe the boy needs an outlet for his energies—something to bang on? Why didn't you suggest that the mother buy the child a set of drums and send him for lessons? We did that with our two older boys and it worked out fine. A set of drums and some lessons do not come cheap but they cost a lot less than a psychiatrist. — NEWARK

Dear Newark: When a mother tells me that her 6-year-old son breaks up everything he gets his hands on, knocks holes in the wall and is forever hitting other children, I suggest professional help. If the specialist wants to suggest drum lessons, that's all right with me, but I recommend a specialist.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband's young brother had his 18th birthday two months ago. We went all out and bought him a beautiful set of luggage.

Yesterday the boy and his parents came to our home for dinner. The moment they entered the house, the boy's mother said, "My that was beautiful luggage you sent Gregory for his birthday." With that, Gregory piped up, "Gee, it is sure neat. Thanks a lot."

When they left I told my husband I thought it was pretty sad that Gregory's mother had to bring up the subject of the luggage and that the boy should have written a thank-you note. My husband said, "Boys don't have to write thank-you notes." How about it? — J. L. T.

Dear J. L. T.: Boys accept gifts, don't they? Why shouldn't they say thank you? If a note is too much trouble, a phone call could have served the purpose. Your nephew sounds like a bit of a clod and unfortunately it's his mother's fault.

If you have trouble getting along with your parents, . . . if you can't get them to let you live your own life, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How to Get More Freedom." Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Warren Two-Steppers' New Club

A new dance club was formed last Thursday at the Town Barn in Starbrick. Selected from a variety of names suggested by members, the name chosen is the "Warren Two-Steppers." Twenty-five couples are charter members and have completed the required minimum of twenty hours of instruction in round dancing from John and Eep Wallert of Erie. Both are well known by square and round dancers in this area.

Round dancing, as performed by clubs all over the United States and Canada, is a basic waltz or two-step to either traditional or modern melodies. These steps are danced in unison with other couples as the entire group progresses in a circle around the dance floor. The dress most commonly worn is that of Western Square dancers, although some clubs select their own special costumes.

DRAGONS HOST CORY BEAVERS

Loop Contests for Four County Quintets Tonight

The county basketball schedule remains rather heavy tonight as four squads continue in second round league play with all titles yet to be decided. The Warren Dragons will roll out the carpet for Cory in a Section II contest. An intra-county battle will be fought, between Tidoute and Eisenhower for UAVL ranking, along with Youngsville traveling to West Forest. Sheffield takes a rest tonight after taking a brutal blow last Friday from Brockway.

After Third Place

Warren will be out to secure third place in Section II, where they now stand tied with Cranberry with a 4-4 slate. The Berries edged Cory last Friday by four points, 62-58, while Warren crushed Franklin, 87-65, to move to the .500 mark.

In the Dragons' first contest with the Beavers, the Orange and Black triumphed on their home court, 63-58. Warren led in the first period and was down by one at the half, then the Beavers moved their lead in the third quarter to four points, 47-43.

The score jumped from squad to squad in the final stanza, and was deadlocked at 58-58 with 1:17 showing. The Dragons committed three fouls in a row to give Cory the go-ahead points for the victory.

Coach Joe Shantz puts up a well-seasoned starting five against the Beavers this evening. Brothers Dan and Ed

O'Neil will make the tipoff, as well as Dave Cobb, Dan Krumm and Randy Jones. Relief for the starters will come from Mike Hackett and Rick Nauman.

Cory will start Tiny Schwab 6-4, Tom Xander 6-2, Dave Curtis 6-1, Bill Blynt 6-0, and Dan Taylor 5-7; a starting five averaging six-foot.

Not Overconfident

Eisenhower won't be taking its game with Tidoute lightly. The Bulldogs beat the in their first meeting and unexpectedly dumped East Forest Friday night, 72-69. Eisenhower battled to a 69-69 deadlock with less than a minute to go in their first contest, when the Bulldogs netted a foul shot to move ahead 70-69. Then Ed Ziegler swished a two-pointer from the top of the key to clinch the victory for the Orange and Black as the buzzer sounded.

He captured a close contest with Pleasantville Friday, 79-76, to move them into a tie for third place in the UAVL. The Knights, as in the past, were led to victory by Bob Burlingame, who collected 29 points against the Falcons.

Burlingame is sure to make the tipoff along with Tim Allen, Bob Russell, Greg Johnson, and Jeff Lindell. All five cagers have been the starters for the past few games.

Tidoute will be hoping to climb out of the league cellar, where they now hold a 2-5 reading along with Spartansburg. The Bulldog tipoff squad will be led by Ed Ziegler and Mark Rondinelli. Both cagers carry better than a 15-point average per game. The rest of the Orange and Black starting five will be Jack Shields, Ron Carr, and Max Anderson.

Nelson Out Tonight

The loss of George Nelson to Youngsville could make the difference in tonight's contest with West Forest. Nelson, who is the biggest man on the Eagle squad, has the flu and isn't even likely to make the journey.

Not Reported

There were no reports on the Youngsville at Ridgway wrestling match and Warren at Meadville swimming meet at press time last night.

In their first meeting, Youngsville clobbered West Forest, 91-51, on the Eagle court. Nelson netted only six points in the game as he concentrated on the boards. Another factor in the first game was the absence of Ron Hinkle from the Indian squad. Hinkle has been scoring in double figures, but wasn't able to make the first Eagle game because of sickness.

Mike Vermillion and Dave Seger are also dangerous for Indians. They netted over half of the West Forest total in the loss to Youngsville. West Forest now holds second place in the UAVL by a slim margin of one-half game, with Youngsville and Eisenhower tied for third place.

With the loss of Nelson, the Red and White mentor will add Dick Andrews and Jack Maze to the tipoff squad, leaving freshmen Paul and Randy Yucha as substitutes. Denny Walton, Gary Wood, and Tom Burleigh will also make the starting whistle for the eighteenth game this season.

The Eagle height disadvantage could be a factor in the game. The Indian squad carries several men over six-foot and Youngsville will average 5-10.

Dragon Mat Team Seeking Revenge Against Rockets

There's no way Warren's wrestlers can improve on their second place finish in Section II, but at least the Dragons have an opportunity to gain some measure of revenge when they travel to Titusville tonight.

The two teams clashed on the local mats on January 23, and the Dragons came away stinging from a 25-19 defeat in a match that virtually decided the conference championship.

It remains the only blot on the Blue and White's 11-1 record. The Rockets went on to win the title by routing Rocky Grove, 47-6, and have also added Mercer to their string of 11 straight victims.

Since losing to Titusville, the Dragons have whipped Oil City, McDowell and Redbank Valley, pestering an all-time victory mark in the process, but that one defeat sours an otherwise successful season.

Both the Dragons and the Rockets know that the first match was for all the marbles and that tonight's match, regardless of the outcome, will be only post-climatic.

It's important for Titusville to win however, because the Rockets are on their way to a perfect season.

For Warren, this meeting is a matter of pride, nothing more. The first place trophy already belongs to the Rockets.

Another Titusville victory would prove beyond a shadow of a doubt that the Rockets are the better wrestling team, probably the best in District X.

Warren has defeated the best in Erie, East High, and the Rockets won an exhibition match from Fort LeBeour, the only other unbeaten team in the District, which includes 40 wrestling schools.

Coach Mike Weber will go with his regular varsity lineup, the same 12 Dragons that wrestled in the first match. The Rockets' margin of victory in that one came on six victories to five for the Dragons and one bout ended in a draw. Titusville also had two falls against one for Warren.

Rocket Coach Chuck Walker could not be reached last night, but it is assumed that he will send the same grapplers to the mats in an effort to stay unbeaten, with one possible exception.

Rocket heavyweight Denny Muir missed the Mercer match due to illness and may not be back tonight. Freshman John Karns was inserted at 180 against the Mustangs and Barney McCracken moved up to the heavyweight class.

McCracken, however, may remain at 180 to meet Darrell Pusateri and Karns, or another junior varsity matman, may get the call as the Rockets' heavyweight.

With those possible exceptions, the match-ups in each weight class should be the same as in the first meeting.

Warren's wrestling team takes a break from Southern Tier action tonight by traveling to Townville for a match slated to start at 7:30 p.m.

The Eagles are completing a rebuilding year under new Head Coach Dave Anderson after dropping the sport for one season. They have won only one match to date, a 35-21 decision over Youngsville last month.

Townville started the season with just four experienced grapplers but with seven matches behind them, should now be in better shape.

The Eagles were defeated their last time out, 36-12 by Sagertown, but handed over three forfeits, getting on in return.

They were unable to put men on the mats at 95, 103 and in the heavyweight class.

The bur matmen who saw action prior to this season are all middleweights: Randy Proper at 133, Jim Lingo, a transfer student from Titusville, at 138, Sam Aversa at 145 and Doug Wright at 154.

Eisenhower's varsity lineup, as announced by Coach Don Johns, will be: 95—Ralph Spencer, 103—Owen Williams, 112—Gary Gage, 120—Paul Cathcart, 127—Iete Block, 133—Gary Dalrymple, 138—Andy Bosko, 145—Dae Burnett, 154—Bob Hagberg, 165—Harry Critzer, 180 and heavyweight—Martin Hoffner and Tim Martin, or vice versa.

OUTDOORS by Don Neal

About once a year now I get around to attending the concert of the kind of music my sensitive soul enjoys most -- the baying of fox hounds as they course their way on a hot trail somewhere out on snow-covered countryside. Whipped by the wind, this beautiful music comes to you loud and clear at times then fades to where you must strain to pick up the chorus as they turn from swampy valley to climb to the heights of a far off oak-studded ridge.

It wasn't always that way. There was a time when much of my claim to living the good life was based on the number of days each fall and winter I could spend in the pursuit of hounds, or rather in trying to be in the right place at the right time as the melodious canines indicated the course being taken by a certain "foxy" individual I was quite anxious to have a look at over my gun sights.

Those were great days. And I relive them all now on this "once a year" excursion I take up into the Sugar Grove area when the gang of dedicated fox hunters up that way put on what I suppose they call their big hunt. At any rate, it's the time of year when they put on a fox hunt they can be proud of and one that provides a barrel of sport for the participants.

It was last Saturday that I traveled up Jackson Run and in due course of time made my way to the Checkered Apron restaurant in Sugar Grove where the gang had assembled for their noon-time meal. Was the Place crowded? Well, every booth and counter stool was filled and some of the fellows were eating off a table normally used as part of the kitchen equipment. There may have been a few new faces in the crowd, but mostly they seemed to be the same fellows that make the big hunt each year and probably make another dozen or so throughout the season. A mixture of both New York State hunters and those from Pennsylvania.

On my way into the restaurant I had noticed a "trophy" fox hung on the side of a truck. I asked about the morning's luck and learned that two fox had been killed and five missed. Further, that some of the dogs were still running and that as soon as they finished their meal the whole outfit would move into the hills again. I wanted a picture of the two dead fox and we decided to add a dog or two for color. Red Burgett brought three fine looking hounds out of his truck and someone else added a couple more. Then from trucks parked all along the street hounds started to emerge and by the time we had the hounds and their proud owners linked up it wasn't a picture of two dead fox at all. But it was a photo of a pack of hounds that even an English king could be proud of.

With the formalities over, we all took to our vehicles and were off to the hills. If there is anything I really admire about a fox hunter it is his ability to locate the most impossible roads in the most improbable locations. We weren't out of Sugar Grove a country mile before my courageous little Sunbeam (even with snow tires) failed at the top of a long hill and I had the enjoyable experience of backing all the way down, knowing full well that the least slip would leave me stuck in a ditch until the St. Bernards arrived with their cast of rum. But the second try at the ice-covered hill was successful.

The rendezvous point was soon reached. After a little discussion the group split up and the hounds were led off in different directions to start them off on the afternoon hunt. Not possessed of the enthusiasm needed to plow through the woods on a day like last Saturday, I moved out to the crest of the hill and took a stand. I hardly expected fast action. The dogs would have to have time to pick up a trail and get the fox moving. But I hadn't waited more than a few minutes until I caught the faint baying of a worthy pack of hounds. In another minute or so I determined they were coming my way, and from the distance between us I knew that these had to be the hounds that were left running at the noon-time break.

No, I didn't get to see the fox. Perhaps I could have had a glimpse of him if I had moved further out on the hill for the dogs finally passed close by. But on this particular day I wasn't fox hunting, I just wanted to fill my ears with what must be the sweetest music this side of Heaven. And I was getting plenty of that.

All the way home that day I talked to myself. Why was it, I kept asking myself, that so many of our so-called hunters today rack up their guns at the close of deer season and think that the sporting season has ended? Haven't they ever heard of the great sport of fox hunting --- or tried it? The best part of it was that I didn't try to answer myself, and they say that as long as you don't answer your own questions you don't have too much to worry about.

Some of my friends may be willing to argue that point with me, but none would argue that fox hunting isn't a great sport.

Alcindor & Company Cut Houston's Lead

The UCLA Bruins have cut Houston's first-place margin to a mere eight points in the latest Associated Press weekly major-college basketball poll. New Mexico State is the only newly-rated team.

The unbeaten Cougars collected 25 first-place votes to UCLA's eight in the voting by a national panel of 34 sports writers and broadcasters based on games through last Saturday.

However, on a point basis, Houston leads the Bruins by only 322 to 314. The Cougars drew eight votes for second place while UCLA had 26 for the No. 2 spot. Points were awarded on a basis of 10 for a first-place vote, 9 for second etc.

Texas at El Paso, 11-4, received the other vote for the top spot, but did not gain a position in the Top Ten.

North Carolina held third place followed in order by St. Bonaventure, Tennessee, New Mexico, Columbia, Kentucky, Vanderbilt and New Mexico State.

Houston beat Fairfield 108-76 and Marshall 102-93 last week, lifting its record to 20-0. UCLA, 16-1, downed Southern California, 101-67. North Carolina

Olympic Opening Marred By Accidents, Disputes

GRENOBLE, France (AP) — A series of serious skiing accidents, a mild epidemic of food poisoning and fresh political bickering threw a discouraging blanket over this teaming Alpine resort Monday on the eve of the official opening of the Winter Olympic Games.

The harshest tragedy occurred on the Alpine trail of Chamrousse, 18 miles East, where Robin Morning of Santa Monica, Calif. broke her right leg in two places in a freak accident.

Rod Hebron of Canada, a downhill racer, suffered a shoulder injury and Wendy Allen of San Pedro, Calif., a U.S. Alpine star, suffered a cut over an eye when she hit a pole during a practice downhill run.

Miss Morning, rushed to a hospital by helicopter, is definitely lost for the games. Hebron is doubtful. Miss Allen is expected to be ready to go.

Meanwhile, at Grenoble, three members of the U.S. speed skating team—Bill Lanigan of New York, 16-year-old Dianne Holm of Northbrook, Ill., and Toy Joan Dorgan of Springfield, Ill. were forced out of training by stomach upsets believed caused by food poisoning.

Miss Morning's accident was a freak one because the spill came as she was skiing to the start of a course for a trial run.

Lanigan is America's tophope in the men's 1,500-meter race and Miss Holm, third in the world's championship 500, figured to be the best bet in that event. Coach Ken Henry said he hoped all three would be all right.

The political squabble involved a row between the U.S. Olympic Committee and the International Ski Federation, which controls the sport throughout the world.

First, the FIS banned the use of commercial names on skis, warning anyone guilty of using them would be barred from the games. Then the FIS reversed itself and said the trade names would be allowed.

Avery Brundage, President of the IOC and a strident voice in the maintenance of pure amateurism in sport, called a special meeting of the IOC's executive board for Tuesday morning in the hope of resolving the thorny issue.

A compromise appeared to be shaping up on the ski brand issue. An FIS official met with captains of ski teams and it was agreed skiers would use the utmost discretion in displaying their equipment.

Then Yuri Mashin, the head of the Soviet delegation, brought politics into the picture. He called a press conference and denounced what he called American "aggression" in Vietnam.

Alain Calmat, the former French figure skating star who will light the official flame for Tuesday's opening, made his run up the stadium steps and then couldn't get the lamp to ignite. Technicians were called in for a feverish repair.

And the weatherman said the 60,000 expected to witness the 1½ hour opening extravaganza should bring their umbrellas. The forecast is for rain or snow with temperatures in the 40s, with a strong wind from the southwest.

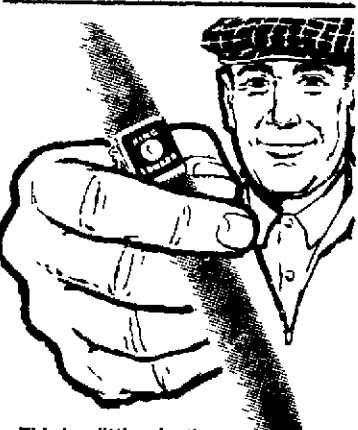

The featured actor in the carefully prepared opening day extravaganza—Gen. Charles de Gaulle—arrived in Grenoble Monday night by special train from Paris.

De Gaulle will officially open the games Tuesday. The ceremonies start at 3 p.m. local time (9 a.m. EST). Action will start quickly. The United States and Czechoslovakia will take to the ice in the Stade de Glace for the opening ice hockey game of the championship tournament. The Czechs are favored.

Early Wednesday morning, competition begins in the ladies figure skating, the men's downhill ski race and the men's 30-kilometer cross-country.

The first heats of the two-man bobsled event will be raced, starting at 6:30 p.m. (12:30 p.m. EST), on the icy chute at Alpe d'Huez, 36 miles to the north of Grenoble.

Torino...for people who know there's more to a performance car than painted stripes.

1968 Torino GT Fastback (Top)
1968 Torino GT Hardtop (Bottom)

Anyone can paint stripes on a car. Ford's performance champs earn their stripes the hard way. Torino swept the first five places in the Riverside 500. It's the Pace Car for the Indy 500. It's the hottest-selling new car in the country! Fairlane took first place in its class for braking and for economy in the Union/Pure Oil Performance Trials—in fact, Ford Motor Company cars won more classes than all other manufacturers combined! If it's performance you want, ride with a winner! See the man with Better Ideas... your Ford Dealer.

FACTS ABOUT THE 1968 TORINO

When Torino takes the first five spots in the Riverside 500, first time out, you know it's tough! These cars, of course, were driven by professionals and were modified to meet the special demands of competition. But, the same kind of basic durability and maneuverability are built into every Torino we make. So if you want stripes, get 'em on the car that gives them meaning! Choose from three GT models—fastback, hardtop and convertible. All with a 289-cu. in. V-8, wall-to-wall carpeting, all-vinyl interiors, styled steel wheels and wide-ovals. Or choose the regular hardtop or 4-door sedan. Like the GT's, they've got a new, longer, 116 in. wheelbase for smoother riding comfort, more room and more trunk space. You can even have a Torino Squire wagon, with 2-way Magic Doorgate. See America's hottest newcomer at your Ford Dealer's soon!

Auditors' Pay Is Upped To $20 a Day

(TMO Harrisburg Bureau)

HARRISBURG — The pay of auditors of sixth class counties such as Warren County has been increased from $15 to $20 a day, according to a bill now signed into law by the Governor.

The county auditors are authorized such pay however only "for each day necessarily employed in the discharge of their duties" with reimbursement at the rate of ten cents per mile permitted "from and to their homes."

(An attempt to define a "day" as meaning "the number of hours out of each 24-hour period that the county courthouses regularly open for business on week days" had been inserted in the legislation but before final legislative passage it was stricken from the measure.)

The provisions of the new law applies to county auditors elected or appointed on or after November 1, 1967.

County
ASCSCommittee
23 Years Old

The elected farmer committee system of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service will be 23 years old this year says Charles Camp, chairman, Warren County ASCS committee.

Members serving with Camp on the ASCS county committee this year are Richard Lindell of Lander and Donald Johnson of Warren.

The committee administers action farm programs on the county level. These include price support and production adjustment, conservation cost-sharing and others.

Principal commodity programs administered by the local committee, says Camp, are wheat, feed grains and cropland adjustment programs in addition to conservation cost-sharing through the ACP program.

Camp says farmer committees were authorized by the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1933. "In those early years," he recalls, "committees were appointed. Since 1936, however, county and community committees have been elected. Congress currently prescribes election procedures for ASCS committees."

"Farmers like the committee system, as nearly as I can tell," chairman Camp adds. "It gives them a local voice in setting yields, establishing allotments, setting up rates of cost-sharing and conservation work and other important policy determinations that protect farmers at the producer level of operation."

Camp points out the elected committee system constitutes a pipeline for ideas and suggestions for improving farm programs. Farmer elected committees are agents for their neighbors in linking local farmers with the Department of Agriculture in Washington.

The committee invites all farmers, farm groups and others interested in agriculture to take advantage of this pipeline, to help bring new solutions and fresh approaches to ever-changing farm programs, says Camp.

AWOL Private
Now A Civilian

PT. DIX, N.J. (AP) — The Army, which admitted last month it "lost" an AWOL private for nearly nine months after assigning him to Vietnam and then found him, has decided to let him go permanently.

Pvt. Robert Worth, 23, of New Shrewsbury left this post as a civilian Saturday. In his pocket he carried a general discharge he was granted for reasons of financial hardship.

An Army spokesman said the "nature of his (Worth's) service was such that an honorable discharge was not warranted." The spokesman said Worth's service included an unexcused absence of nine months.

Worth originally contended he never received his orders to Vietnam, but the Army insisted that he had the orders in his possession when he was returned to this military base.

Worth said he went home last May to obtain three affidavits for the American Red Cross about his family's situation after the Army turned down his application for a hardship discharge. Worth claimed he has to help support his widowed mother and five younger brothers and sisters.

He said the Army's Personal Affairs Department ruled originally that he was not eligible for a hardship discharge since he had volunteered for service and since conditions at home had not changed his enlistment. However, on Jan. 31 the department, in a change of mind, recommended the hardship discharge.

School Children
Drink Lots
Of Milk

More than six billion half-pints of milk were consumed by children in the National School Lunch and Special Milk programs during 1967, as part of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's continuing effort to encourage consumption of dairy products, says Charles Camp, chairman Warren County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

"This amounted to about 3.5 billion pounds," he observes. "Other programs raised the total to seven billion pounds. This is about six per cent of total U.S. milk production in 1967."

Besides milk, products included about 126 million pounds of nonfat dry milk, 124 million pounds of butter and 108 million pounds of cheese donated to schools, needy families and institutions.

The department of Agriculture also provided quantities of dairy products from Commodity Credit Corporation stocks for military use. This took 30 million pounds of butter, five million pounds of cheese, and 300,000 pounds of dry milk during 1967.

In addition, about 350 million pounds of nonfat dry milk were donated for foreign school lunch and welfare uses.

POSTER WINNERS

Elementary school students from the fifth and sixth grades, in Warren County schools have been competing in a poster-making contest, held in observance of Children's Dental Health Week. Winners in the contests, selected Monday, included, 1 to 1, Pamela Kinney, sixth grade, St. Joseph School, second prize; Cheryl DeFazio, sixth grade, Jefferson School, first prize; Dennis Kitalinger, fifth grade, Tidoute School, first prize; and David Colvin, fifth grade, Lincoln School, second prize. Each of the first prize winners was awarded $10, while each second prize winner received a $5 award. The posters created by the four winners, as well as several posters which received honorable mention, will be on display this week at Levinson Bros. Department Store. (Photo by Mansfield)

Local Girl Will Visit England
With Aid of Rotary Program

By FRANKLIN R. HOFF

As a result of a series of incredible coincidences, Rachel Check, Warren Area High School senior, will be in England, following her graduation in June, under the foreign exchange program of Rotary International.

Miss Check will be a guest with the family of Hugo Veerman, in St. Austel, in Cornwall, on the English Channel. She will work full time in the Veerman florist shop and nursery.

Always interested in international relations, Rachel conceived the idea she might find employment overseas, to realize her dream of living in another land. Employed outside her school time during the past three years by Ekey Florists in Warren, she consulted the international section of the directory of Florists Telegraph Delivery Service. She wrote some letters of inquiry about the possibility. Back came a prompt acceptance from Hugo Veerman in St. Austel, England.

Through a coincidence, Veerman is a member of the St. Austel Rotary Club. In his letter he told Rachel Check he had taken it upon himself to write to the Warren, Pennsylvania, Rotary Club, attention its secretary, suggesting they might welcome the opportunity to assist her, under the Rotary International exchange program. By a further almost unbelievable coincidence, the secretary of the Warren Rotary Club is Lawrence Ekey, prominent Warren florist, who is Rachel Check's employer.

When brought to the attention of William W. Wolfersberger, director service, his committee eagerly adopted the project.

Under the Rotary International foreign exchange program, Rachel will be sponsored by the St. Austel Rotary Club, Warren Rotary Club underwrites her transportation to England and return, amounting to about $400.

Warren Rotarians are particularly delighted that Rachel Check set this project in motion on her own initiative. Warren Rotary president Henry Powell observes that Rachel Check has been an exceptional young woman throughout her school career — both in Beatty Junior High School and Warren Area High School.

In Beatty she was elected president of Beatty Citizenship League, highest honor the school can confer. She also earned the coveted Beatty Silver "B," awarded for exceptional service to school and community. She was also elected to the National Junior Honor Society.

In Warren Area High School Rachel has served as a member of the Student Council. She is active in both the Spanish Club and Russian Club. Last year she was semi-finalist in the American Field Service "summer abroad" program, under which Warren Area High School Student Council sends a Junior overseas for the summer, and finances the bringing of one or two foreign students to Warren Area High for the school year.

Rachel is the daughter of Mrs. Louise Check, 449 Phillips st., Warren, Pennsylvania. Her brother Martin is a senior at North Carolina State University. Her younger brother Richard attends Warren Area High School.

Asked about her future, Rachel Check says: "I've fallen in love with floriculture, working at Ekey's. I plan to enter Michigan State University at Lansing, Michigan, and prepare for a career in floriculture."

ing, Michigan, and prepare for a career in floriculture."

As one Rotarian expresses it: "If Warren Rotary Club had initiated such a project, Rachel Check would have undoubtedly been the girl we would have first contacted."

Rachel was a student guest at Warren Rotary Club Monday noon. When she was introduced she thanked the Rotarians for making it possible for her to enjoy this experience of living in England under the Rotary International exchange program.

Surplus Food

Surplus food will be distributed to all Tidoute area recipients Wednesday from the fire hall. Hours are noon until 3 p.m. Friday's distribution is scheduled for the Garland area from the community hall. Hours are noon until 3 p.m. Please bring your own containers.

State School Districts Directed To Submit Desegregation Plans

HARRISBURG (AP) — The state Human Relations Commission said Monday it has directed a number of unidentified school districts in Pennsylvania to submit plans for racial desegregation by July 1.

However, the commission refused to identify the districts or specify how many were involved.

The Shafer Administration news office was called in for assistance to no avail.

Jack Conmy, Gov. Shafer's public relations secretary, said David H. Kurtzman, Superintendent of Public Instruction, told him 18 letters were sent out on commission stationery.

However, Conmy had no more success than reporters in securing the names of the districts.

Conmy said the commission believed it was protected from the state's right-to-know law since the Human Relations Act permits the agency to withhold identification in any proceedings until the time of public hearings. He added that he has asked the Attorney General's Office for an opinion on that interpretation.

The desegregation directive was sent out last Friday, the commission said, on the basis of a statewide agency survey which determined that the unidentified districts contained "the greatest degree of racial imbalance" in the state.

The letter was co-signed by Commission Chairman Harry Boyer and Kurtzman, whose department had prepared the survey questionnaire.

Boyer told the Associated Press when queried:

"The law is clear that confidentiality must be preserved in all instances up to the point of public hearings. In addition, the commission believes it can far better expect the kind of cooperation from these districts as will be needed to correct racial imbalance by respecting such confidentiality."

Kurtzman said he merely co-signed the letters as a matter of routine, adding that the department assisted in preparing and mailing the survey.

"I could not tell you what criteria the commission used in determining the imbalance. This is the commission's prerogative," Kurtzman said.

Conmy took sharp odds with the commission decision to withhold the name of the districts.

"It was in error for the commission to issue such a release without being willing to name the districts that are directed to submit the desegregation plans," Conmy said.

"This immediately makes every district suspect by guilt by association. Any district that receives this letter can make it public at its whim."

"I see no point in not disclosing the names so long as the commission has taken a half-step in issuing a release."

The commission, with the assistance of the Department of Public Instruction, undertook a statewide survey recently to determine the racial composition of each school building in the state.

The survey resulted after the Pennsylvania Supreme Court ruled that the commission does have authority to deal with de facto school segregation. The court had overruled an appeal by the Chester School District.

Chester has been ordered to submit a plan of desegregation.

The commission added that it expects letters would be sent to additional districts later which it found to have a school segregation problem in lesser degree.

It offered districts all the professional assistance at its command.
